INDEX

TO THE

NINTH VOLUME

OF THE

Weekly Entertainer.

A.

ADAIR, Dr. extracts from his Medical Sketches of the Natural History of the Human Body and Mind, 446.

Advertiſement, a curious one over a barber's ſhop-door, 59.

Ague, infallible cure for the, 377.

Anagrams, 44, 92, 164, 189, 212, 308, 331, 356, 379, 403, 427, 452, 500, 524, 548.—Anſwers to, 19, 67, 115, 234, 259, 355, 378, 522, 523, 547, 570.

Anecdote of Dr. Pitcairn, 2. of a cat and the Court of Chancery, 6. of the late Dr. Young, concerning the abſurd cuſtom of duelling, 10. of the generoſity of a footpad, 16. of Carolan, the laſt Iriſh bard, and the author of O'Rourke's noble Farewell ne'er to be forgot, 18. of the Emperor of Germany, 27, 88, 554. of the late King of Pruſſia, 34. of Oldys the hiſtorian, 36. of Lord Chief Juſtice Holt and Richard Cromwell, 38. of Lord Paget, 40. relative to the interment of the dead body of a weſt country gentleman, 41. of Edward Pratt, Eſq; half-brother to Lord Camden, 50. of the celebrated Pigalle, 58. of the Duke of R——, 66. of Lord Rodney, 74. of Dr. Johnſon, 74, 530. of a learned merchant, 75. of a clergyman and a nobleman's ſteward, 102. of the late Sir Walter Blackett, 124. of a duel happily prevented, 139. of Sir Robert Walpole, 153. of Captain Suckling, 155. of his Majeſty King George III. 159, 321. of Captain Philips, commander in chief of the expedition to Botany Bay, 159. of Richard III. 170. of Lord Thurlow, 232. of a brave ſailor, 233. of a clergyman's delicate way of reproving ſwearing, 255. of Beau Naſh, ibid. of Mr. Garrick and Dr. Johnſon, 320. of George II. 321. of a drunken fellow who diſturbed the Houſe of Lords, 341. of an audacious poacher, 343. of a man who begged money in the middle of a church at Fordingbridge, in Hants, 354. of two paragraph writers and a landlord, 373. of Sir Walter Raleigh, 422. of a whimſical method of evading the giving of vails, 441. of his Majeſty's huntſman, 448. of Sir Joſhua Reynolds, 461. of a gentleman's ſervant who complained of the fatigue of hearing prayers read, 464. reſpecting the ſurrender of General Burgoyne's army at Saratoga, 468. of an ignorant juſtice of peace, 472. of Lord Kinſale, 487. of an eminent London tradeſman, 495. of a brave ſailor, 509. of King James I. and the Houſe of Commons, 514. of of an Iriſh gentleman remarkable for making blunders, 542. of the King of France, 568. of a miſtreſs of the Earl of Macclesfield, 585. of Mr. Hanway, 617. of an Iriſhman, ibid.

Anecdotes of Admiral M—lb—k, 73. of the Man of Roſs, 112. of Dean Swift, 174. of a Dutch merchant and ſome Jews, 201. of Mrs. Bellamy, 204. of Amurath IV. 246. of a cunning footman, 290. of Mr. Garrick and Mr. Rich, 295. of the late Prince of Wales and a butcher, 298. of a miſer, 305. of Sir Thomas Robinſon, 364. of the celebrated Dr. Mead, 366. of Dr. Birch, the antiquarian and hiſtorian, ibid. of the late Jonas Hanway, 394. of Oliver Goldſmith, M. D. 400. of Mr. Samuel Richardſon, 420. of Philip Skippon, Eſq; 442.
Animal life, ſcale of its average duration, 569.
Apple bloſſoms and orchards, on the means of preſerving them from injury, by Chriſtopher Gullett, Eſq; of Exeter, 487.
Apprentice, on the behaviour of an, 295, 317.
Avarice, extraordinary inſtance of, 39.
Auſtrian ſoldier, magnanimity of an, 1.

B.

Balmat, James, account of his journey to Mount Blanc, 443.
Baume, La, deſcription of, or the ladies' grotto, at St. Bauzile, near Ganges, a town in the Cevennes, in Languedoc, 16.
Benevolence, the tranſcendant excellency of, by Mr. Heron, 421.
Blenheim, deſcription of the battle of, by A. Cunningham, Eſq; 464.
Bon mots, 11, 28, 160, 199, 257, 302, 351, 377, 419, 421, 446, 449, 462, 497, 561.
Bonnycaſtle, Mr. his account of the diſcovery of the Herſchelian planet, 321.
Briſtol elections, Sir John Miller's ſpeech reſpecting, 491.
Burying, account of the various modes of, in different nations, 201

C.

Cæſar and Cato, imitations of their characters, from Salluſt, 351.
Calonne Eaſt Indiaman, account of its loſs, 425.
Caſe, a curious, 341.
Charades, 20, 68, 92, 117, 140, 164, 188, 212, 261, 308, 332, 380, 403, 428, 452, 476, 500, 524, 548, 572, 595, 620.—Anſwers to, 91, 163, 186, 210, 211, 234, 260, 307, 330 331, 426, 450, 474, 499, 547, 571, 595.
Charity, on the good effects of exerciſing a comprehenſive, towards perſons differing from us on religious topics, as well as of mixing with them occaſionally in the diſcharge of religious and ſocial duties, 448.
Charles II. portrait of, 496.
Chaſtellux, Marquis of, farther extracts from the travels of the, in North America, 61, 149.
Cheſterfield, Lord, and two of his favourites, deſcribed by Mr. Heron, 490.
Chriſtmas bill of fare at the Buſh Tavern, Briſtol, 76.
Cincinnati, account of the inſtitution of that order in America, 160.
Circumſtance, an awful, 256.
Contempt, curſory thoughts on, 439.
Country ſquire's revenge, the, 28.
Curtis, Thomas, Eſq; a reſpectful tribute to his memory, by Edmund Rack, 196.

D.

Diſſenters, Lord Chatham's opinion of them, 529.
Duke of Milan, the, by Maſter George Louis Lenox, 387, 409, 433, 457, 481, 503.
Dutch, picture of the manners of the, 472.

E.

Education, thoughts on, by the late Mr. Burgh, 84, 102, 121.
Elephant, curious particulars relative to the, by Dr. Spaarman, 469.
Engliſh theatre, on its preſent ſtate, by Mr. Heron, 461.
Enigmas, 21, 45, 68, 69, 93, 117, 165, 213, 235, 309, 333, 357, 380, 381, 404, 428, 453, 476, 477, 501, 525, 548, 549, 573, 596, 620, 621.—

Anſwers to, 19, 20, 43, 67, 114, 115, 139, 163, 187, 188, 210, 211, 212, 234, 235, 306, 307, 355, 379, 402, 427, 475, 498, 522, 524, 571, 591, 594, 619.
Euler, ſome particulars of the death of that great mathematician, 87.
Evidence, a perſpicuous account of the nature of, and of the faith or credence which are the unavoidable effects of it, when it comes properly authenticated to the mind, by Mr. Dore, 193.

F.

Falſe alarm, the, by Mr. Martyn, 145, 170.
Fiſtula, a remedy for the, 440.
Fortune teller, the, 241.
Forty, a man is either a fool or a phyſician at that age, reflections on that ſaying, 337.
French wines, memento to the lovers of, by Dr. Watſon, 351.
Friendleſs, the ſtory of Maria, by Mr. Thomas Chatterton, 374.
Friendſhip, a remarkable hiſtory of heroic, in a humble ſtation, 51.

G.

Galileo, the celebrated aſtronomer, ſome particulars of his life and diſcoveries, 396.
Gentle reproof, the hiſtory of, 323.
Greatneſs of mind, extraordinary inſtance of, in a German nobleman, 447.

H.

Haſtings, Lord Thurlow's character of Mr. 199.
Heroic acts, account of two, performed by perſons of obſcure birth, 205.
Hill, memoirs of the late Sir John, by Sir John Hawkins, 353.
Horned cattle, a remedy for the preſent ſcarcity of, 289.

I.

Impeachments, ſhort hiſtory of, with ſome account of the modes of proceedings in ſuch caſes, 225.
Intrepidity, remarkable inſtance of, in a French clergyman, 545.
Iriſh indifference, 473.

J.

Jortin, Dr. apology relative to the late excellent, 577.

K.

Kepler, ſome particulars of the life and death of that celebrated aſtronomer, 59.
Kien-Long, Emperor of China, account of the feaſt given by him to the ancients of his kingdom, February 14, 1785, 567.
King's evil, cure for the, 179.

L.

Ladies of South Carolina, their conduct in the apparently ſinking ſtate of the American cauſe in that province, after the capitulation of Charleſtown, its capital, 34.
Law, the danger of going to, 399.
Lever, memoirs of Sir Aſhton, 416.
Libertine, hiſtory of a, 530.
Limbrey, Eſq; character of the late Henry, of Little Dartmouth, Devon, with verſes on his death, 25.
Literature, liberty, government, and manners, on their reciprocal influence, 510.
Lounger, ſome account of Sir Thomas, 303.
Love letter, copy of a curious, 169.

M.

May 29th and 30th of January, on the religious obſervance of, as practiſed by the church of England, 414.
Member of Parliament, an old man's advice to a young, 343.
Menſuration of the earth, of the by Mr. Bonnycaſtle, 175.
Mothers, a hint to, 156.

N.

National affairs, on, 513, 601.
New married ladies, on the behaviour of, 385.
Newton, Sir Iſaac, ſome account of his life and diſcoveries, 2.
Norfolk, character of the Duke of, 299.
Northern and north-weſtern coaſts of Great Britain, extracts from the publications of Mr. Knox, Dr. Anderſon, Mr. Pennant, and Dr. Johnſon, relative to them, 514, 537, 557, 607.
Notice, authentic copy of one, given to the crier of Taunton, and cried on Saturday the 30th of December, 134.

Oath,

O.

Oath, remarks on the nature and design of an, 329.
Obſervation, an, 33.
Ormah, an oriental tale, by the Rev. Mr. Mavor, 343.

P.

Paſſions, obſervations on the, by R. Cumberland, Eſq; 184.
Pitt, character of Mr. Mr. Fox, and Lord North, 97.
Pity, the temple of, 533.
Plants, &c. miſcellaneous obſervations on a variety of, conſidered in an agricultural and commercial view, by Mr. Abraham Crocker, of Frome, 185.
Poetry and poverty not ſo nearly allied in fact as in ſound, 441.
Politeneſs, Lord Monboddo's definition of, 377.
Political affairs, obſervations on the preſent ſtate of, 367.
Political events, recapitulation of thoſe which occurred in 1786, 179.
Polwhele, Rev. Richard, ſpecimens of his new tranſlation of Theocritus, &c. 361.
Pride, a remarkable inſtance of the bad effects of indulging a ridiculous, 230.
Prince of Brittany, the, a new hiſtorical novel, 361, 585, 612.
Proteſtant diſſenters, their caſe with reſpect to the corporation and teſt acts, with reflections, 217.
Pun, a, 131.

Q.

Queries, 357.—Anſwers to, 90, 498.
Queſtions, 20, 44, 68, 92, 116, 164, 188, 212, 235, 261, 308, 332, 356, 379, 403, 427, 451, 475, 499, 524, 548, 572, 594, 620.—Anſwers to, 18, 43, 66, 75, 76, 90, 114, 139, 163, 186, 210, 233, 258, 305, 330, 355, 378, 402, 426, 450, 474, 498, 522, 546, 570, 593, 618.

R.

Raikes, Mr. Robert, of Glouceſter, his letter, giving an account of the ſucceſs of Sunday Schools at Painſwick, 135.
Rebuſes, 20, 45, 93, 117, 140, 164, 189, 213, 235, 261, 308, 332, 357, 380, 404, 428, 452, 476, 500, 524, 548, 572, 596, 620.—Anſwers to, 43, 67, 91, 92, 116, 139, 163, 187, 211, 260, 331, 355, 378, 379, 450, 451, 474, 475, 523, 571, 618, 619.
Reflections, 112, 376, 399, 423, 447, 472, 519, 543, 593.
Repartee, a, 90.
Riedeſel, or the martyr of chivalry, 106, 131.
Ruſſel, Mrs. inſcription on her monument in Lydd church, Kent, 83.
Ruſty, Mrs. her complaint of her huſband's becoming F. R. S. and F. S. A. 462, 520.

S.

Scotch muſic, origin of the, 302.
——— pedlar, the, 371.
Sclama, an imitation of Oſſian, 6.
Servants, uſeful directions for, 110.
Sextus Quintus, Lord Clarendon's account of the arts by which he raiſed himſelf to the Popedom, 543.
Shew board, a whimſical, 561.
Ship-building, remarks on the gradual progreſs made in it at different periods, by J. R. Forſter, 348.
Skeleton, account of a human one, uncommonly preſerved, 49.
Spaniards, humourous account of their manners and cuſtoms, by the Marquis de Langle, 326.
Steevens, copy of a letter written by the late celebrated George Alexander, to Dr. Miller, of Doncaſter, 65.
Sunday Schools, on the good effects that have attended them, particularly at Painſwick, in Glouceſterſhire, 135, 494.
Surnames, obſervations on the origin of, 89.

T.

Tradeſman and mechanic, on the particular education of, the neceſſity of conſulting a boy's genius, how it may be diſcovered, and the branches of learning proper for a youth deſigned for trade, 249.

V.

Verſes. Prologue to Mrs. Cowley's new comedy called A School for Grey

Grey Beards, written by Mr. Cobb, and ſpoken by Mr. Banniſter, jun. 12. epilogue to ditto, written by Mr. Cobb, and ſpoken by Miſs Farren, 23. departure, by Martinus Scriblerus, 24. ode to the new year by Mr. Warton, 37. on the recent death of Lady Grimſtone, daughter of the late Edward Walter, Eſq; of Stalbridge in the county of Dorſet, 46. a ſketch of a lady who is now on a viſit in Devonſhire, 47. epitaph on Sally Moon, who died when three weeks old, by Martinus Scriblerus, 58. elegiac deſcription of winter, by W. Goſs, of Street, 70. epitaphs on the Rev. Charles Jenner, vicar of Claybrook, and Cluer Dicey, by Lady Craven and Miſs H. More, 71. on the death of a chaiſe-driver belonging to the Sun Inn, 72. Mr. Collins's famous coalition ſong, 118. on content, 120. elegy written on a Quaker's burial ground, 141. a compariſon, 144. ode on Valentine's morning, to Mira, by Corylas, 154. ode, by the Rev. J. Black, 166. on proſperity and adverſity, by Samuel Porker, of Bridgewater, 167. on a miſer, ibid. addreſs to the nightingale, written by Peter Pindar, Eſq; 168. prologue to the Man-Milliner, written by Mr. Colman, 190. elegy on a favourite canary bird that lately belonged to the Princeſs Elizabeth, by Dr. Fordyce, 191. tranſlation of the 34th ode of the firſt book of Horace, 192. Dr. Fordyce's addreſs to Lord Bute on his turning poet in his old age, 214. tranſlation of the 24th ode of the firſt book of Horace, by Martinus Scriblerus, 215. verſes by the late Lord Orrery, 216. epitaph, by Martinus Scriblerus, ibid. to the memory of the late Mrs. Deverel, of Swanbourn, Bucks, by B. M. of Weymouth, 237. juſtice, 238. tranſlation of the 22d ode of the firſt book of Horace, 239. to Peter Pindar, Eſq; on his addreſs to the nightingale, 240. epitaph on Alexander Knopp's ſeven wives, 240. genuine ſentiment, by T. Petvin, of Street, 264. ode to happineſs, by Martinus Scriblerus, 265. on receiving a mourning ring on the death of a friend, by Lambert Kiddle, of Martock, ibid. epitaph on a tomb-ſtone in a country church-yard near Bideford, 264. epitaph on the Welch, Scotch, and Iriſh, teaching the Engliſh language, ibid. bagatelle, ibid. lines humbly inſcribed to Mr. Wm. Copping, of Bodmin, Cornwall, by Wm. Cory, of Cranborne, 310. ode to the ſeaſons, 311. a prayer, by J. C. of Bridport, 334. the morning walk, 335. ſonnet, by Miſs Hayes, 336. bagatelle, ibid. the happy meeting, 338. elegiac ſtanzas, written by a young lady, 359. bagatelle, 360. epitaph on a wool-comber, who was hung for ſtealing ſheep, ibid. epitaph on a cobler, by W. Cory, ibid. virtue and pleaſure, by Dr. Fordyce, 382. epitaph on a ſailor, who was ſhot in an engagement, and thrown overboard, 384. dialogue on a fine morning in the ſpring, between Lucinda and Florella, by T. Paſmore, 406. to Julia, 407. ſong, by Biſhop Atterbury, 408. the lawyer and his client, by Biſhop Hall, 419. ode to fear, by the Hon. Andrew Erſkine, 429. virtue and ornament, an ode, addreſſed to the ladies, by Dr. Fordyce, 431. to Laura, 432. on the death of a beloved mother, 454. written on a party of pleaſure to Portiſhead Point, down the river Severn, 455. elegiac ſonnet, written by an anchoret, and addreſſed to the naiad of a river near his ſolitary habitation, 456. to a man who loved his bed late in the morning, ibid. on future fame, 478. an hymn, 479. a rule for preſerving health, in two rhyming lines in Latin, by Dr. Bulleyn, 480. ode to ſleep, by J. Macey, of Rattery, 502. occaſioned by a friend's recoving his ſight, on being couched by Baron Wenzell, by Miſs Tomlins, 503. ode to tenderneſs, 526. the honey-ſtealer, from the Rev. Mr. Polwhele's tranſlation of Theocritus, 528. epitaph on a drunkard, by Martinus Scriblerus, ibid. man was made to mourn, by Burns, the Ayrſhire ploughman, 550. on friendſhip, written by a young lady during ring the indisposition of a friend, 572. ode to a friend, by Matilda, 574. twilight, 575. sonnet to the river Usk, in Monmouthshire, 576. on a young lady's sighing, by W. H. of P. ibid. ode for his Majesty's birth-day, by Mr. Warton, poet-laureat, 597. another, written on the beach at Calais, 599. epitaph on a faithful servant, by Martinus Scriblerus, 600. prologue to the Midnight Hour, by H. S. Woodfall, jun. 622. elegy on the death of an only son, about four years old, 623.

Virtue and vice, the rewards of, by Mr. Martyn, 291, 313.

W.

Watson, Colonel Henry, an eminent engineer and mathematician, interesting particulars relative to him, 11.

Whitbread's brewery, some account of the late royal visit to, 553.

Wild, Henry, a learned Norfolk taylor, his life, 363.

Will, a curious and laconic, 248.

Winds and storms, on, 207.

Wiseman and the fool, portrait of the, 441.

Wormwood, history of Miss Winifred, or malevolence defeated, 53, 77.